Darius Milhaud : Five Chamber Symphonies before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Five Chamber Symphonies:

Milhaud was the most versatile, resourceful, and accomplished French composer of his time. These 5 chamber symphonies dissonant, lightweight, anti-symphonic in their brevity, yet well crafted and charmingly lyrical include Le printemps (Spring), written in 1917; Pastorale, 1918; Serenade, 1921; Dixtuor a cordes, 1921; and Dixtuor d'instruments a vent, 1922.
