This collection of puzzles is a fantastic and painless way of increasing your vocabulary and spelling abilities plus more other cognitive benefits. Codewords are crosswords without schematic clues. All the letters have been substituted for the numbers 1-26, and herein lies the clue each letter of the alphabet has had a unique number assigned to it. Each puzzle has three sections. One is the main grid square where the numbers appear in the corner of each cell. Secondly is the long rectangular solution grid where the solver should place each letter of the alphabet into its corresponding and correct numbered box. Thirdly there is an order alphabet that is useful for elimination of solved letters. Lets train the brain, puzzles are fun!
