before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Hollywood Hall of Shame: The Most Expensive Flops in Movie History:

It is mostly about films that you likely have never watched or heard of, and even if you wanted to watch--you probably could not find. The behind the scenes look at some of the stars who you will recognize is a fun look back, but its not a book I will be sorry i am finished with. 3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Fascinating and funny. By S. Gepp While outdated nowadays after such multi-million dollar flops as Bonfire of the Vanities, Delgo, Hudson Hawk and the all-time money loser Mars Needs Moms, it is still incredible to see that money losing movies have always been with us. A fascinating look at the history of bad films. And it's interesting to note that featured films Cleopatra and Heaven's Gate still feature in the top money losers of all time. The writing should also be mentioned - funny without being demeaning or cruel. Entertaining all round. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Very Interesting By stone280 I bought this to read one section on 'The Conqueror', a John Wayne movie, that is more famous for the number of stars and crew who developed cancer. The movie was shot in Utah, in an area that received nuclear fallout from the tests in Nevada. My brother is currently reading it and also finds the 'little known' facts about other movies interesting.
