Michael Murphy : How To Be Funny, Interesting, and Make People Like You: The Fastest Way To Make Friends (How To Make Friends, How To Make People Like You, How To Make Friends and Influence People) (Volume 1) before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised How To Be Funny, Interesting, and Make People Like You: The Fastest Way To Make Friends (How To Make Friends, How To Make People Like You, How To Make Friends and Influence People) (Volume 1):

4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. disappointedBy G.E.As an example of an "excellent conversation starter" the author suggests saying something like: - You look like a "name a drink" (i.e dirty blond, sex on the beach)"Who (in his right mind) would EVER ask this of a woman (on his first contact) without being afraid of getting slapped? Seriously!?"Or Compliments: - You are absolutely gorgeous. What's your name?Is this even "original" any more?And now his Opinion Openers (also "excellent conversation starters") - What do you think of people who drive Ferrari's?as if Ferrari drivers belong to a totally different category of our human kind...? What about Porsche drivers? Should I be aware of Tesla drivers and their habits?His suggestions for Curious Questions: - What nationality are you? - Do you think giraffes or monkeys are smarter? Why?Makes me wonder what audience the author had in mind when he wrote his book...I understand that the above examples were JUST examples, yet, I expected to see more polished and intelligent questions leading to intelligent dialogues.There was also absolutely nothing about Being Funny Interesting.
