Nathan Shalit : Science Magic Tricks (Dover Children's Science Books) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Science Magic Tricks (Dover Children's Science Books):

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Great book for Science Geeks....By Lovely LannaMy son who is 13 years old is a science fanatic and really enjoyed this book. He pushed all his expensive gifts aside, including a new electric guitar, to flip through the book and examine some of the science equations. It was greatly priced and will provide many hours of fun...I'm quite sure. 1 of 6 people found the following review helpful. Science Magic Tricks By Blue Bonnet I like the book. It was in good shape. I am a happy customer and will buy again. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. fun By D. Armstrong I love the idea of the magic and science combo. it is a gift for a pre-teen male family member who is very in to magic tricks. should be a blast!

This educational, fun-filled book will show you how to dazzle audiences with dozens of fascinating tricks based on scientific principles. Included are more than 50 safe demonstrations easily performed at home or in the classroom with a ping-pong ball, broom, potato, balloon, coins, playing cards, and other common items. Clear illustrations and simple, easy-to-follow instructions enable you to perform dozens of "tricks" involving mathematics, chemistry, inertia, magnets, optical illusions, and physics. Astound friends and relatives by cutting glass with scissors, inserting a pin in a balloon without popping it, creating a magical doorway out of paper, concocting witch's dust and "wet" fire, practicing the art of secret writing, and successfully accomplishing many other mystifying feats. Best of all, as you entertain audiences with these eye-popping tricks, you'll be learning important scientific facts and principles. These science magic tricks make learning fun!
